

ABSTRACT

An integrated computerized method for submission, review, and disposition of inventions. The entire submission, review and disposition are performed electronically and there's no need to a face-to-face meeting for reviewing of the submitted invention.

- 5 The disposition is performed electronically and may include automatic assembly and transmission of engagement letter, automatic assembly of provisional application, and automatic assembly and upload of a defensive publication.